Be a part of your professional association

Early childhood education is an inspiring and rewarding profession. Educators serve as role models and transform the lives of young children, laying a foundation for a lifetime of learning.

NAEYC proudly serves tens of thousands of these individuals and others who work on behalf of young children.

About NAEYC

The National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC) is a professional membership organization committed to transforming the lives of young children and delivering on the promise of high-quality early learning.

We support all who care for, educate, and work on behalf of young children. Our membership includes early childhood educators, program staff and administrators, K–3 teachers, researchers, faculty members and trainers, students, family child care providers, and advocates.

NAEYC members are proud to be part of a national association that promotes high-quality early learning for all children, birth through age 8, by connecting practice, policy, and research.

Why join?

Every day, early educators are making a difference in the lives of young children. NAEYC supports the work of these remarkable individuals by serving as their voice and by passionately advocating for what we know to be right for children and for educators. NAEYC also does this by offering a robust suite of national resources, as well as local offerings from our network of Affiliates across the country.

NAEYC members have access to cutting-edge content and professional development to support their career growth. Through our online communities, publications, and events, you are connected to peers and the most notable thought leaders in the early learning field.

We are committed to advocating on behalf of this critical profession and are proud to lead all who care for, educate, and work on behalf of young children.

NAEYC offers four membership categories—Entry Level, Standard, Premium, and Family—each with a unique set of benefits.
